

San Francisco Federal Judge Rules Out I.Q. Test

A federal judge in San Francisco ruled that all school districts in California must stop giving IQ tests to black children as long as the tests do not properly account for the cultural background or experience of the children.

The order by U.S. District Judge Robert F. Peckham also restrains the school districts from placing black children in classes for the educable mentally retarded on the basis of these tests.

Peckham had ruled two years ago that the San Francisco Unified School District could not use the tests on black children as the sole means of determining if they belonged in classes for the educable mentally retarded. His order extended the restraining order statewide and said the tests could not be given to black children at all.

Peckham acted in a suit brought against the San Francisco Board of Education by parents of six black children who had been placed in classes for the mentally retarded.

Three members of the Bay Area Association of Black Psychologists re-evaluated the children and found that they were not retarded, but of at least normal intelligence and did not belong in the special classes.

As a result, the suit was filed by lawyers from Public Advocates, Inc., San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

As a result of the earlier decision, the old IQ tests are now no longer given. Instead, pupils both black and white, are given individual screenings by a psychologist especially trained in the testing of children. Only after his findings is a child assigned to a class for the mentally retarded.

Thomas Griffin, an attorney for the state Board of Education, said that he feels the order is misdirected.

"The state Board of Education does not test children and does not place children," Griffin said. "We have never done the things the court is telling us not to do."

"When we get a copy of Judge Peckham's order we will study it and decide whether to go back and ask for a clarification."

At a press conference, held in San Francisco, three black psychologists - Drs. Harold Dent, William Pierce and Gerald West - told their views on the subject.

Dent stated that 75 to 80 percent of black children now in classes for the retarded do not belong there.

"We start out with an assumption that intelligence is equally distributed among all races," Dent said.

"There are some 35,000 children in mentally retarded classes in the entire state. Only nine percent of all the school children in California are black, yet 8800, or about 25 percent of the children in mentally retarded classes are black," he said.

Pierce related that the IQ tests are "based on white middle-class standards." He noted that "they are culturally biased and developed on experiences and norms that do not take into account the experiences of black children."

Citing two actual questions on the test, Pierce related: "Why is it better to pay bills by check rather than by cash?" and "How would you find your way out of a forest in the daytime?"

"If you live in a ghetto you can't relate to those questions," Pierce said. "Many who live in the ghetto usually don't deal with their financial matters through checks. Also, kids in the ghetto very seldom experience going into the forest."

Farmers' Records Key To Good '74 Census Of A.

The 1974 Census of Agriculture, the largest agricultural statistical projects of the past five years, will begin in January. It will be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, part of the Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

From Alaska to Florida, from Maine to Hawaii, farmers and ranchers will receive census forms in the mail around the first of the new year. The report forms are to be filled out and mailed back promptly.

Farmers themselves have participated in deciding what information is collected in the census. Representatives of farm organizations such as the Farm Bureau, The Grange, Farmers Union, National Farmers Organization, and Farmers Cooperatives serve on the Advisory Committee that recommends to the Bureau the questions that should be included in the census.

Three kinds of information are requested about operations during 1974: first, a count of farm resources, number of farms, area of farm land, acres of cropland and pasture, number of each kind of livestock and poultry, number of persons working on farms, number of various kinds of farm equipment; second, a record of farm products produced and sold during 1974; and third, selected farming activities during 1974 such as number of days of off-farm work by the farmer, amount spent for farm labor, for custom work, for feed, for gasoline and oil.

To report this kind of information, a farmer will need to have a few simple records. The Census Bureau is urging each farmer to have his records of quantities harvested, products sold, major farm expenses and the like readily available so that he can easily and accurately fill out his census report when it comes.

It is from the Census of Agriculture, conducted every five years, that data are taken to form the basis for programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Congressional farm legislation, farm organization policies, farm programs established and administered by State departments of agriculture, and many other services provided by colleges, business firms, manufacturers, publishers and broadcasters.

The Census of Agriculture is the only source of statistics on agriculture that are comparable from county to county nationwide. It is the sole source of comprehensive data tabulated for each State and for the U.S. for farms classified by size, tenure, type of organization, market value of products sold, and type of farm enterprise.

Flammable Fabrics Consent Order Against Lady Lovely Apparel, Inc.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recently announced that it has provisionally accepted a consent order prohibiting Lady Lovely Apparel, Inc., 2801 South Main Street, Salt Lake City, Utah 84115, from selling products which fail to meet the requirements of the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended.

Specifically, the Commission found that certain styles of infant's gowns and toddler's pajamas, gowns and robes, manufactured after July 29, 1972, failed to meet the acceptance criterion of the Standard for the Flammability of Children's Sleepwear (DOC 1 F 3-71). The styles in question are as follows:

Style No. 632-Baby gowns in sizes 6, 12, 18 and 24 months;
Style No. 6130-Toddler's pajamas for ages 3,4,6 and 6x;
Style No. 6131-Toddler's gowns for ages 3,4,6 and 6x;
Style No. 6132-Toddler's button robes for ages 3,4,6 and 6x.

Each of the garments has a cloth label sewn into the inside shoulder seam which has the style number written on the backside in pen or pencil. The label reads as follows:

LADY LOVELY 100 percent Nylon Tricot. EXCLUSIVE OF TRIM. MACHINE WASH

WARM. GENTLE. TUMBLE DRY. LOW. REMOVE PROMPTLY. DO NOT TWIST OR WRING. WASH DARKS SEPARATELY. RN 30896 (Age-Size)

All of the garments were made of 100 percent Nylon tricot and come in various colors including blue, pink, coral, lavender, yellow or white. The Commission knows of no other way to describe this sleepwear.

Most of the garments in question were sold in department stores in Idaho, Utah and California. Lady Lovely Apparel, Inc. has consented to notify customers who may have purchased the product and conduct a recall.

This announcement is made in the public interest in order to alert consumers of the sleepwear's failure to conform to the flammability standard. The Complaint and Consent Order will remain on the public record from November 8 through January 6. Comments from the public received during this period will become part of the Public Record. The Commission may withdraw its acceptance of the Agreement after further consideration.

The Agreement is for settlement purposes only and does not constitute an admission by the respondents that they violated the law.

Be Alert When Purchasing Fuelwood

With winter coming on and the demand for firewood increasing, it is more important than ever for both buyers and sellers of wood to get and to give full value.

The Department of Weights, Measures and Consumer Affairs for Monterey County receives and investigates a number of complaints each year regarding shortages in wood sales. Dealers found in violation of the California State laws that regulate the sale of firewood are subject to prosecution.

The legal definition contained in the California Administrative Code is enforced by this Department. The Code requires that wood for fuel purposes be sold by cord measure. A cord is a standard of measure containing 128 cubic feet, in which the wood must be well-stowed and packed.

If the wood being purchased is cut into two foot lengths, the stack of wood must be four feet high and sixteen feet long. The law also requires that deliveries of wood in excess of one-eighth cord must be accompanied by a bill or a voucher certifying to the amount of wood sold, the name and address of the seller and the date of sale.

Manufactured products, including compressed sawdust, or chips, may be sold by weight or count of the compressed units.

Further information may be obtained by calling the office of Weights, Measures and Consumer Affairs in Salinas at (408) 758-3859.

Report Show's Modest Growth and High Unemployment

The California economy will experience only modest real growth and continuing high inflation and unemployment rates in 1975, according to a report released recently by Bank of America.

Inflation will be the principal factor affecting economic activity in California," the report says. Real growth is forecast at about 2 percent and inflationary price increases at 8 percent for the coming year. "Employment gains of about 150,000 jobs will not be sufficient to absorb the new entrants to the labor force," the report states. "The rate of unemployment will move over 8 percent." The rate has exceeded 7.5 percent through 1974.

"Focus on the California Economy: 1975" says national and international developments and federal policies will affect the state's economic activity more than factors unique to California.

The report presupposes federal programs to contain inflation without significantly increasing unemployment and tighter control of federal spending to narrow the budget deficit. It also assumed no significant easing of federal tight money policies.

Nonagricultural employment showed gains of about 225,000 new jobs, or a 2.9 percent increase over the previous year, during 1974, the bank's economists say. They anticipate about 160,000 new jobs in 1975, or a 2 percent increase.

The largest increases in employment will be in the wholesale and retail trades, the study says. It also predicts a 3.2 percent reduction in employment in the construction industry.

The report attributed the decrease in construction jobs to the depressed home building industry. Only about 135,000 new housing units were completed in 1974, the report says, and the bank forecasts about the same number of new units for 1975.

This rate is far below the average annual rates of nearly 250,000 units for 1971 and 1972 and 205,000 units for 1973. The bank estimates there is an annual demand for about 200,000 new units.

The reduced availability and high cost of mortgage credit has seriously affected California residential construction, the report says. Although the bank expects more money available for real estate loans in 1975, it anticipates little significant reduction in mortgage rates.

The state's largest industry, agriculture, recorded total cash receipts of about $8.27 billion in 1974, the second highest gross income on record, the bank estimates. Total income is expected to slip to about $8.15 billion next year, the report says, and because of a 12 percent increase in production costs, net income for farmers will decline sharply.

The San Francisco-Oakland area recorded little employment growth in 1974. But next year modest employment gains are expected in the five-county area. The increased number of jobs in trade and service industries will more than offset declines in construction employment. However, the area's unemployment rate will remain higher than the state average.

Los Angeles County, the state's largest employment market, has an unemployment rate slightly below the state average and the rate is expected to remain below the state average next year. But the bank foresees only a slight gain in employment in the county next year.

In Northern California, Santa Clara County recorded the largest employment growth in 1974. Unemployment in the county in 1975 will probably move up slightly because of an easing in demand for electronic components, but the rate will remain well below the state average, the bank predicts.

Orange County continues to lead the state in economic growth, the report states, noting that "employment gains in 1974 were about three

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I appreciated your well-balanced November 13th editorial: "What The Elections Mean."

I particularly noticed your alertness to the hidden threat poised subtly in the quoted statement of that labor publication.

Personally I vote independently, without party affiliation, for whomever I think best qualifies for office. I too, was disappointed in part. However, I will pray and cooperate as sincerely with those elected as if they were those of my own choice.

This, I am thankful to say, is my privilege both as an American and as a Christian -- as an American because it is the free democratic American way -- as a Christian because there is no other way; For the Christian following his Lord's Word is instructed to "First of all, pray for all men, and for all that are in authority." I Tim 2:1-8

I also heartily agree with you that all of "our differences should be patched up" and disappointments given to the past so that we may address ourselves in wisdom of unity of purpose to our present problems and to hope of the future.

Recently I saw a bumper sticker which said, "Wise men still seek Him". How appropos for the present times!

May those newly elected officials in authority over us follow the Star!

Respectfully,
J. Lee Mildon,

ON FOREIGN AID

"Never in history has a nation given so much in monies, with so little thanks." That is the way this angry California feels, and I feel that most of America feel or think the same way. But who can we place the blame on? Oh yes, you guessed it, we can put the blame where it belongs - on those members of Congress who think massive, poorly thought-out giveaway programs can buy us friends around the world.

"Truly, Congress passes the bills and makes the appropriations and no administration, whether Republican or Democrat, can wantonly spend us into bankruptcy without congressional action or approval."

Yet Congress refuses to take a good hard look at the idioy that foreign aid has become.

Take the $10 billion sent to India over the last few years. But India didn't use it to feed its people because they are still starving by the millions. No, the Indian government thought it much more important to build a NUCLEAR BOMB than to feed starving men, women and children.

Through our participation in the World Bank, the Mexican government gets millions of dollars to modernize their shrimping and fishing industry. And what does Mexico do? It seizes a Fort Myers shrimp boat and holds it for what amounts to ransom.

But Ecuador was even more blatant. We gave that nation military patrol boats which the Ecuadorian government turned around and used to kidnap our own fishing boats.

Anyone who sits down and reviews the history of U.S. foreign aid in recent years runs the risk of losing his sanity. It is mind-boggling - the amounts of money we have tossed away - and we have given to nations to make them wealthy enough to spurn us.

It was our dollars which rebuilt wartorn Europe and stopped the Red Army's insidious push to the Atlantic.

It was our dollars which took the bomb-destroyed nation of Japan and turned it into an economic miracle, and again thwarted the advance of communism. But we have never received our money's worth. In fact, the American taxpayer is actually being cheated.

No wonder the national debt is one step away from the frightening half-trillion-dollar mark. No wonder this year we will spend $1 billion just to pay the interest on the national debt.

The time is long overdue for us to stop this waste, to tell the nations of the world we are no longer going to support them and get nothing in return.

CCG President Urges All-Out Food Production

All-out food production was urged today as the "most direct route to inflation control" by R.L. Gibson, President of California Cannerymen and Growers.

But Gibson expressed concern that a shortage of tinplate, particularly if the current coal strike is prolonged, could hold production of canned foods below the maximum.

He spoke to the grower-owned cooperative's annual membership meeting at the Oakland Hilton Inn.

Should steel for cans run short, said Gibson, "we will ask for priorities so seasonal food processors may receive the steel they need for the all-out production the nation has requested". He said that during 1974 cannerymen "barely skinned by with tinplate supplies" even though crops were reduced by bad weather and "1975 may present us with an even more serious tinplate problem" particularly in view of cannerymen's desire to increase their production.

Gibson said California Cannerymen and Growers which operates canneries in both California and Wisconsin, intends to can more fruits and vegetables in both states next year. The cooperative will do this, he said, despite sharp cost increases. "Everything we use is costing us more," said Gibson who described 1974's cost advance as "the sharpest in one year in all my experience".

Demand for canned foods has been strong, Gibson said, despite price increases due to crop-reducing weather and higher costs. He said that "fortunately consumers have regarded our products as a good buy in comparison with many other foods".

California Cannerymen and Growers is the nation's largest grower-owned cooperative canner of fruits and vegetables. California plants are located in Gilroy, San Jose, Sunnyvale, Thornton, Stockton, Fremont, Modesto, and Merced. CCG headquarters are in San Francisco.

Crackdown On Workers' Compensation Law Violators

About 3,000 California employers have bought new workers' compensation insurance policies since the State began a crackdown of the labor law violators six months ago.

A Mugger's Doggy Bag

Los Angeles—A mugger attacked Mrs. Hollis Sharpe. It was, she said, a terrifying and painful experience -- he broke her left arm.

But, despite terror and pain, Mrs. Sharpe was able to recognize a kind of ironic theater-of-the-absurd justice in what happened.

As has been her habit for years, Mrs. Sharpe was walking her 7-year-old miniature poodle, Jonathan. Mrs. Sharpe is a woman of sensibility and consideration. She always carries a plastic bag and a newspaper with her on her nightly walks.

When Jonathan does what dogs do, Mrs. Sharpe carefully scoops it up with the newspaper and drops it in the bag for sanitary disposal later.

"You have to think of your neighbors," she said.

Jonathan had done what dogs do Wednesday night, and Mrs. Sharpe had done what women of sensibility and consideration do, and she was carrying the plastic bag in her right hand when the mugger jumped out of a car and grabbed her.

She screamed, winced in pain and fell.

The mugger, a tall young man in a gray topcoat, snatched the plastic bag from Mrs. Sharpe and ran to his car -- only later to discover the nature of the loot.

"I only wish," said Mrs. Sharpe, "there had been a little bit more in the bag."

under investigation for violation of the mandatory insurance law is now averaging 6,000 a month, says Robert E. Howard, State Labor Commissioner.

Most employers discovered in violation were unaware that the laws apply to them and to their employees, says Howard.

"They were confused about the application of the laws, particularly in cases of partnerships, independent contractors, corporate officers, and the employment of relatives and part-time help," says Howard.

The State Labor Commissioner in particular warns that:

- A working partner who is paid wages is considered an employee of the partnership and must be covered by workers' compensation insurance. This is true although he may also receive profits from such partnership.

- Regardless of the kind of business, an employer must cover relatives working for him unless the relatives live in his immediate household.

- Domestic workers employed in excess of 52 hours a week, and gardeners, working at private homes for more than 44 hours a month, must be covered.

Howard says that the laws defining independent contractors are extremely complex and that employers should consult their attorneys if they are concerned about their status. A key factor, he says, is the amount of control held by others over the work, pay, workplace, and products of the alleged independent contractor.

Howard's Division of Labor Law Enforcement (DLLE) in the State Department of Industrial Relations instituted last May a program of direct contacts that is expected to involve about 72,000 new California employers by the end of its first year of operation.

Since last May, nearly 14,000 employers have been investigated by the 22 DDLE district offices throughout California and have been required to submit proof of compliance with the law.

time the rate for all of California." It forecasts economic growth in the county during 1975 at a rate almost twice that in the rest of the state.

San Diego County's rate of employment growth is second only to Orange County, the study says. A continued strong shipbuilding industry and balanced growth in tourism and manufacturing should make San Diego one of the "strongest economic areas in the state" in 1975, it states.

The San Joaquin, Sacramento and Salinas Valleys are primarily dependent on agricultural production and their economies should hold at 1974 levels -- or slip slightly, the reports says.

The San Bernardino-Riverside area will record little economic growth in 1975, the report states.
